

Job Placement
The Catholic University of America
School of Philosophy

April 21, 2017

Since 2000, 66% of our Ph.D. graduates obtained full-time appointments in academia upon completing their degrees. The rest pursued other options; of those, two thirds did so by choice, i.e., they did not seek a full-time academic position in the first place.

Of the graduates who obtained full-time appointments in academia:

- 75% obtained permanent (P) appointments, i.e., either tenure-track appointments, or non-term-limited appointments in institutions that do not offer tenure.
- 17% obtained limited-term (L) appointments, some of them indefinitely renewable.
- 8% obtained other (O) positions in academia that are not teaching positions, e.g., an administrative position.

Below is a list of our Ph.D. graduates who have obtained full-time appointments in academia, along with their most recent appointments. The list is complete and up-to-date to the best of our knowledge.

You can see another view of our placement record on the Academic Placement Data and Analysis Website: <http://placementdata.com/about/>.
